Colin Sayers
Managing Director

Colin's early career started in the kitchen, specialising in larder and pastry, whilst working full-time under Executive Chef and past Roux Scholar and Young Chef of the Year Stephen Duffield.

Following various positions as Head Chef across the globe, Colin joined our team 11 years ago.

“The continued growth of the company is illustrative of our partnerships and our people and I am looking forward to working with a great team to develop the existing business further and to maximise new opportunities for Seasoned Events.”

Food and drink

“The Seasoned Events kitchen produces fabulous food for private and corporate events. Our approach is simple, we use high quality seasonal ingredients and reinvent traditional dishes with a stylish and modern twist.”

We place great emphasis on taking a sustainable approach to all our events and offer a range of sustainable fish sourced from Marine Stewardship Council accredited fisheries.

We don't use cod in our menus and we source our salmon from Kenmare on the west coast of Ireland.

All of our meat is Red Tractor approved; our pork is from Thetford in Norfolk and we are able to source lamb from the Goodwood farm estate in West Sussex.

The British Isles produces fantastic produce through the farming year. I work closely with my suppliers to ensure that the Seasoned Events kitchens design imaginative, delicious and stylish dishes using high quality ingredients throughout the year.”

Three course dinner

We have a wonderful seasonal selection of signature dishes that utilise the best available regional ingredients throughout the year.

So whether it's an awards dinner for 800, an intimate dinner for 20 or a lavish lunchtime banquet for 300 our chefs can specifically tailor-make a menu for your guests. So if you have any particular favourites just let us know.

All our menus offer 'restaurant quality' dishes and we pride ourselves in using fresh, seasonal ingredients.

We will work with you to design a bespoke menu for your event and you'll have the opportunity to meet your chef and taste your selected menu in our tasting room in the City.

For further details or to arrange a tasting get in touch now.

Imperial War Museum London

Capacity: 50 - 1000

Address: Lambeth Road, London, SE1 6HZ

Closest station(s): Lambeth Road, Waterloo or Elephant and Castle

Opened by King George V on 9 June 1920, Imperial War Museum is a museum of social history, concentrating on people's experiences of war, the way they behave in war and the impact of war on society. Situated within close proximity of both Westminster and the City, this Grade II listed building with its large contemporary curved glass-roofed gallery creates a light and spacious setting to a variety of events.

The versatile main atrium plays host to receptions, balls and dinner dances, film premieres, fashion shows and product launches. The exhibits in this gallery include a rare and unique Battle of Britain Spitfire; and 'Old Bill', a London bus that once transported troops on the Western Front during the First World War. These exhibits create a breathtaking welcome for guests as well as talking points throughout an event.

This is one of the only spaces in London with the capacity to accommodate up to 1,000 guests for receptions and 400 for dinner.
